

Table of Contents

Introduction

Executive Summary

Opportunities and Challenges for the California Economy—Can California Be a Great Place to Work and Live?

Housing, Workforce, Immigration (Legal and Unauthorized), State Budget, Infrastructure and Education

The California Economy in 2008 and 2009

The Bottom Line

The U.S. Economy

The California Jobs Picture—How Long Will the Downturn Last?

Regional and Metro Area Job Trends

Job Outlook for 2008 and 2009

Personal Income and Taxable Sales—How Big a Hit?

Housing—Which Way for Building and Prices?

The U.S. Economy in the Decade Ahead

The Tidal Wave Begins—Baby Boomers Begin Retiring

Population Growth

Labor Force and Job Growth—How Much Slower?

Industries and Occupations—Growth and Replacement Needs

Projections of GDP and Income Growth

California Jobs to 2017

The Bottom Line

California—World's 8th-Largest Economy

Total Jobs—Can California Still Grow Slightly Faster Than the Nation?

California's Economic Base

Professional, Business, and Information Services

Wholesale Trade and Transportation

Diversified Manufacturing

Tourism and Entertainment

Government

High Tech Manufacturing

Resource Based

California's Population-Serving Industries

Manufacturing Activity—California and the U.S.

California Population, Households, Income, and Spending

Population Growth Is Slowing

Total Households

Income and Spending

Construction Activity

Housing Markets—Will Communities Plan for Enough Housing?

Regional Economic Growth

Comparison of Economic Regions

Jobs, Income, Population, Households and Spending

Los Angeles Basin to 2017

The Bottom Line

The Region's Economic Base

Income and Spending

Construction Activity

San Francisco Bay Area to 2017

The Bay Area Recession

The Bottom Line

The Region's Economic Base

Income and Spending

Construction Activity

San Diego Region to 2017

The Bottom Line

The Region's Economic Base

Income and Spending

Construction Activity

Sacramento Region to 2017

The Bottom Line

The Region's Economic Base

Income and Spending

Construction Activity

San Joaquin Valley to 2017

The Bottom Line

The Region's Economic Base

Income and Spending

Construction Activity